

Title: - Deutsche Bank Group – Vendor Endorsement

Restricted use of the name, brand, or logo of Deutsche Bank in supplier sponsored communications

As a matter of policy Deutsche Bank will not provide supplier endorsements. Examples for endorsements may include (but are not necessarily limited to): Press releases; Press interviews; Marketing materials; Case studies; Participation in suppliers' "potential customers" discussions as a reference customer; Quotations in articles; Appearances, references, or mentions in any media (radio, television, etc.); Internal or external supplier house magazines; Internet or Intranet sites; Conferences, seminars, or working group participation.

Suppliers who are noncompliant with this policy will be contacted by the responsible supplier relationship manager with the request to cease the noncompliant activity.

Deutsche Bank supplier relationship managers will take the supplier's behaviour into account when future business decisions are taken.
